

BUTCHERED IN BED.

The Victims Probably Chloroformed
and Then Shot to Death...No
Clue to the Perpetrators of the Decd.

JACKSON, Mich., Nov. 23.—Great excitement was caused in this city by the announcement that four persons had been foully murdered on the township line of Spring Arbor and Suisun, on the farm of Jacob D. Crouch about seven miles southwest of this city. Investigation proved the truth of the report. At an early hour hundreds of excited people had gathered at the scene of the bloody tragedy, and during the day crowds have besieged the house. The victims are Jacob Crouch, aged 74, Mrs. Eunice White, daughter of Mr. Crouch, Henry D. White, her husband, and Moses Polley, a drover from Transfer, Pa. The fearful crime was committed some time during the night, but what time it is not known. The victims were found at 5 o'clock by a colored man named George Bates, who worked for Mr. Crouch on the farm. He called to Mr. Crouch on the morning. He saw no one until he first thought they detected a strong smell of chloroform in the house, but several doctors express their opinion that no chloroform was used. All had met their death on gun-shot wounds. The residence stands on the north side of the street, about four rods back from the road, and has five rooms on the ground floor. The front room is a parlor, leading to the right of which are two bed-rooms. The front or corner room of the house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. White, where they were found lying in their own blood. Mr. White was on the front of the bed with a bullet hole under the right ear and another on top of the head, while another had grazed the scalp. Mrs. White had undoubtedly made a desperate fight for life. She was found in the head on the right side, above the neck, and two in the right arm above the elbow. In the other room off from the parlor lay the man Polley, with his face toward the wall. There was bullet-hole in the back of his neck. Near the parlor was the sitting-room, in a corner of which was an alcove in which Jacob Crouch slept. He also lay with his face to the wall with a bullet-hole in the back of the head and another just back of the ear. All of the furniture of the farm-house were mutilated and butchered, with the exception of the colored boy, Boles, and a domestic named Mrs. Julia Reese, both of whom slept up-stairs and were not molested. The colored boy says that he was awakened during the night by the window which blew a perfect gale. He afterward heard sounds like something pounding, which were probably the reports of the revolvers, and he saw a light shining into a box, where he remained until morning. There are a number of theories advanced. One is that a gang of Italian railroad laborers committed this horrible crime from motives of revenge. The one which seems to be the most generally accepted is that Moses Polley, the young stock drover who came from the east with the intention of buying horses and was of the breed of a desperado, showed his money while on the cars, and was followed by professionals for the purpose of robbing him and securing what booty he might get as a farmer like Mr. Crouch, whom it was also rumored had received $100,000 from the estate of his son in Texas. It is not known how much plunder was obtained. A pocketbook was found in the room of Mrs. White, which contained $800 and a certain amount of cash for $500. The colored boy, Boles, and the domestic, Mrs. Julia Reese, have been held by the sheriff until the quest. One of the officers found an empty cartridge-box in the room of the colored boy.

Domestic Infidelity.

BELLAIRE, Ohio, Nov. 23.—The trial of the suit of Dr. J. D. Hobensack of Marietta, against Lavester Spence, prosecutor of the largest case of bigamy in the eastern Ohio, commenced yesterday afternoon. The charges of damages began here. Dr. Hobensack charges Mr. Spence with alienating the affections of Mrs. Hobensack, who is young pretty and but recently married, and that she complies alleges various specific acts of infidelity at the doctor's own house and other places. Before the beginning of the suit Mrs. Hobensack had filed a petition for divorce, in which she alleged an adulterous affair by her husband. The record adduced by her husband's attorneys, however, failed to obtain a general insight into the trouble, while hearing the suit for damages. The case attracts widespread attention, as all the parties move in the highest circle of society.

The total liabilities amounted to over $951,410. It was decided at the meeting to liquidate the debts by arrangement with the creditors. J. B. Banner, an accountant, was appointed trustee with a committee of inspectors. The meeting evinced a sympathetic feeling toward the bankrupt.

Thirty-seven Persons Go Down With Mer.
HAYCOCK, Mich., Nov. 23.—No tidings of the missing propeller Manistee have been heard of. Trawlers have been sent out to search along the north shore and among the Apostle Islands. Their return is expected Saturday with deep anxiety. It is learned that passengers from the south of Ontonagon were transferred from the Manistee to the city of Duluth at Sault Ste. Marie to avoid being detained, while the cargo was being discharged at that point. The actual loss of life is thirty-seven persons, consisting of seven passengers and the crew numbering thirty.

The Barge Iowa Ashore.

Captain and mate were rescued in places uninjured, and are now at the St. Clair land. The captain's wife and two children were swept overboard during the storm.

SUITS AGAINST BEN BUTLER.
A Soldiers' Home Sues the Governor for $15,000.
BOSTON, Nov. 23.—The National Soldiers' home, organized under United States laws, has filed in the supreme court of Massachusetts a suit against Gov. Bulfinch for $15,000 contracted in 1879, and $3,375 interest thereon on the same from January 1, 1889. Gov. Butler's defense is that the plaintiff corporation is not now and never has been a citizen or resident of Connecticut; that it was not a usual place of business in said city or state, and that the circuit court has no jurisdiction over said case and no power to entertain and adjudicate upon the same, it not being a controversy between citizens of different states, and, furthermore, that the defendant should not be held to answer the plaintiff's suit and declaration.

Short of Cash.
INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 23.—J. F. Caylo, manufacturer of agricultural implements, failed. Liabilities, $12,000; assets, $5,000.

New York, Nov. 23.—La Don & Lomar, wholesale dealers in hats in New York, failed, with reported liabilities of $30,000, and assets $29,000. They hope to be able to make some business.

From dispatches received by Bradstreet's it is announced that the national bank of Rahway, N. J., had suspended payment. The authorized capital was $500,000, but only $130,000 was paid in. Rumors regarding the bank's stability have been afloat some little time.

An Ex-Senator Arrested.
WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 13.—A telegram from Nevada received at the department of justice announced the arrest there of ex-Senator Spencer on the 19th inst., and that the ex-senator is now on his way to Washington. Attorney General Brewster says Mr. Spencer was arrested by his direction and will be brought here to answer for contempt of court in not appearing as a witness in the star route cases. He could have given important testimony in the case upon Mr. Spencer's behalf, the attorney general says, but when wanted he ran away and thus helped defeat justice in that case, and for this he should be punished.

The Cincinnati Fraud.
CINCINNATI, Nov. 23.—The situation remains practically unchanged at the auditor's office. Applications for remitters are coming in very slowly, it is supposed, owing to the fact that taxpayers are now generally cognizant of the fraud, and are carefully examining their tax bills and comparing them with those of previous years before taking action. It now looks as if Charles C. Jenner, Campbell & Co., the firm who were indicted, had been constantly at the auditor's office since the discovery of the frauds, observant of every move made. There is a growing conviction that the guilty parties cannot escape.

What Brewster Recommends.
WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 23.—Attorney General Brewster, in his annual report to the president, among other recommendations suggests some radical changes in the criminal laws of the District of Columbia, and particularly in the drawing of jurors. He states that the star route trials suggested the necessity for these changes, for trial and takes which could easily have been avoided elsewhere, causing needless delay, and evil practices were permitted which never would have been allowed if justice was properly administered.

A Matter of Sacred History.
ST. LOUIS, Nov. 23.—The following announcement was made here: "The composition of the Haydn and the masses of Mozart, Cherubini and others are choice and burning compositions, and far from being unbecoming to the holiness of the church. To avoid contradictions we ought to abstain from bland composers, but ought to invite them courteously to imitate the style of our masterpieces which we possess. D. Cardinal Bartolini, cardinal prefect of the Sacred Congregation of Rites."

Raid on Moonshine.
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—A special dispatch from Erie says: "Acting on instructions from United States District Attorney Stone, Collector Walcher and a party of officials made a descent upon a house kept by the Burdick brothers at Cold Cat Hollow, Mercer county. After a long ride across the mountains the party surrounded the house, successfully capturing the inmates, bottles of worm of whisky; also the still which had been concealed."

Another Brutal Assault.
CINCINNATI, Nov. 23.—O. J. Purpon, colored, was arrested this evening at Crawfordsburg, Mo., for an attempt of rape upon Laura Dieckman, 9 years of age. The crime was committed at noon and caused great excitement in the valley, and instant chase was given. It was a long hard run, but Marshal Schutler caught the brute in Coatesville, Mo., at a blacksmith shop. The victim is badly hurt and physicians are doubtful of her recovery.

Dynamite In Jail.
INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 23.—Dwight Wheaton, the counterfeiter, and Collyer Tabor, the Columbus, Indiana, postoffice burglar, both of whom are in the county jail awaiting trial, made a desperate attempt with a dynamite cartridge. Sheriff Hoff, however, recaptured the daring dynamiter and has placed them in irons.
